day was the feast of the Epiphany, called by some, Old Christmas Day, and very generally known as Twelfth Day, it being the twelfth day after Christmas. Epiphany is a feast cel-corated in the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches, in commemoration of Christ's manitestation to the Gentiles by a star, which conducted the three magi or wise men from the East to Bethlehem, where after adoring the infant Saviour, they presented their symbolical gifts of gold, trankincense and myrrh. In the Catholic Church the day was observed in all respects as Sunday. In olden times the secular amusements of the day were numerous and varied, but of late years, and in this country, it is kept principally as a religious holiday, and is considered the last day of the Christmas fes-

Alexandria, January 1st, 1872.

The undersigned having associated themselves as the successors of Loving & Pierce in the commission business of Alexandria, under the name and firm of PIERCE & LOVING, present their to their friends and patterns of the late. Having assumed the settlement of all claim against the old firm and the collection of their accounts, we invite a settlement with as little delay as prac icable. R. C. PLERCE.

R. C. PIERCE. PIERCE LOVING. Alexandria, January 1, 1872.

HAVING transferred my interest in the house of Loving & Pierce to my son, who associates himself with my late partner, R. C. Pierce, in the commission business of Alexandria, I return my sincere thanks to those of my friends who have manifested their confidence towards our house, and respectfully ask that the same may be extended to our successors.

I presume the capacity and promptness of my late partner as a business man are so fully known to the trading community that his claims can hardly be overlooked by those whose interests are identified with the commission business of Alexandria. Suffice it to say that during the six years of our joint business, I have found him almost invariably at his post—prompt to every call, and in his dealings liberal to a fault. While I desire and expect to remain permanently with the good people of Alexandria, I am led to retire from active participation in business on account of my health, and a desire to give place to my son. For the present I may be found at my usual place of business, winding up the old and assisting the new firm. jan 1-1 w
